Experience

Patrick has worked on a wide variety of architecture, planning, research, interior design, renovation and urban design projects. Patrick has participated on project teams from conceptual design through construction administration, arranging site analysis and field documentation drawings, coordinating presentation graphics, preparing construction documents drawings and specifications and assisting with construction administration.

Currently, Patrick is serving as project manager for the Downtown Historic Facade Renovation in Winchester, part of a state legislature grant to preserve Tennessee's Town Square Heritage. The goal of the project is to revitalize the area surrounding the town's Court House square by documenting and refurbishing the urban fabric's historic edifices.
